Did you know?

Where do I find the webstore?

- » Bruker Webstore is available under <https://store.bruker.com/>

What do I need for registration?

- » You need to provide your first and last name, email, company address and country. We highly recommend to use your company or university contact details like email and address to avoid any problems with the delivery.
By the way, if you are already registered on bruker.com then you can use your credentials for the webstore.

How can I pay?

- » You can use credit card or pay-by-invoice. You can select the payment method at the end of the checkout.

I got a quote from my local Bruker representative, and I see the price on the webstore. Why is the webstore price lower?

- » Bruker webstore is a fully automated solution, which works without any interaction with Bruker employees. This means a cost saving for Bruker. As your trustworthy partner, we pass these savings directly to you by setting lower prices in the webstore.

I cannot use the webstore because I need to go via an internal approval process and need a quote from my local Bruker representative.

- » You still can use it. Just select products and quantities and click on "Add to quote". Go to your shopping cart and click on "Get quote". You can even add your internal order reference like internal order ID from your ERP to the quote.

I would like to use the discount quote, but I cannot enter it, why?

- » Discount codes, e.g. special promotions, are valid only for orders via the webstore and are not applicable for offline orders. By the way, if you are interested in promotions and further updates and news from Bruker, then please register for a newsletter in your profile.

I have a service contract and I am eligible for a discount on consumables. How can I get this discount on the webstore.

- » Please register first. Afterwards click on "About" and then on "Contact us". Please provide us details such as serial number of your instrument. We will review your request, reach back to you as soon as possible and provide you a discount code for your contract.

I am a reseller and I would like to place orders via the webstore. Is it possible?

- » Bruker webstore is a solution for Bruker end-customer. If you are a reseller, then you cannot use the webstore. Please contact your local Bruker representative for further details.

How do I contact Bruker if my question isn't answered here?

- » Please use the contact formular on the webstore.
